

Get promotion details

The requestor will send a request per promotion code.

The promotion details should be requested one-by-one in order to retrieve data. In addition, the request must include the requestor token (token) and a promotion code (pro) via GET parameters in the URL.

If there is, a valid promotion found on the request the response will include details as the promotion code, promotion type in numbers from 1 to 3 and other fields, which we will describe bellow.

A sample of a request and the response structure is as follow:

Request:

One promotion per call:
